

What people who know me like and admire about me

I believe I am known for having a good listening ear and as someone who presents as calm, caring and honest in my dealings with individuals. I have a sense of humour and probably have a tale for most incidents that occur!

What is important to me

My family is very important to me as are good friends. I am always committed to whatever I do whether it be paid work, voluntary work or belonging to groups or clubs.

I like sport, particularly football, rugby and cricket. I support Burnley FC and am a proud Yorkshireman even though I have lived in Essex since 1969!

I enjoy walking the dog and going to the theatre and cinema with my wife.

What is important for me

I like to be listened to and respected for my opinion. I like to get involved and to feel that my contribution will assist whatever project with I am associated .

How I like to be supported

I like to talk things through before reaching conclusions.

I like to get feedback from actions whether this is positive or negative so that I can continue to learn.
